Once again our staffs have shown their dedication and hard work. But we do believe that more efforts need to be done and for this we are constantly undertaking to improve projects and initiatives under various programs in response to the needs of our beneficiaries. We wish to thank donors whose efforts and financial support make these results possible. We invite all to financially support our future programs in order to embark on activities for the marginalized and disadvantaged people who are deprived from services and are victims of social inequality.

Welcome to Aloshikha RSD Center Bangladesh.

Annual Report – 2022

Introduction

The Aloshikha RSD Center is a window of opportunity for vulnerable people to access to knowledge, skills, and information they need to improve their lives and livelihood. Aloshikha RSD Centre Bangladesh is a professionally managed not-for-profit social development organization, registered with the Ministry of Social Welfare, NGO Affairs Bureau, and micro-credit regulatory authority and also affiliated by the Ministry of Health and Family Planning Department in Bangladesh.

The working area of Aloshikha RSD Center is located in coastal south-western region of Bangladesh, where the rivers Padma (called Ganges in India) and Jamuna (called Brahmaputra in India) merge into the Meghna river. Floods are an annual phenomenon, which impacts life and livelihood of poor people. Aloshikha has already grown into a well-known local organization that tries to support the poorest of the poor of society both in the form of social and economic aspect. Gopalganj, Barishal and Madaripur district are its working area. In order to reach support to outreach locations Aloshikha has established branch offices in four locations. In addition Aloshikha has established small community centers (PRIMA) where there is a class room for a pre-school and small office space for health education activities.

Aloshikha is committed to addressing various social and economic problems of the economically downtrodden and vulnerable groups in general. Empowerment of communities is a central focus of all Aloshikha development initiatives. Over the years, the organization has extended its geographical, beneficiary and programmatic coverage quite significantly. The long term development program now includes non-formal and vocational education, poultry, fishery and water supply and sanitation. All these works are aimed at providing support to disadvantaged poor people. Over the years we have to face many difficulties and challenges such as political unrest, natural disaster, and financial constraints as well.

It works in exclusively in rural areas, primarily to support local people access to water and sanitation, pre-primary education, vocational training/education, hospital and health promotion. Other programs include environment and forestry, fisheries, agriculture and providing capital support to its beneficiaries for their income generation.

Aloshikha believes in potentialities of its target people that's why focuses was given to an intergraded comprehensive program uniting the poor into groups and emphasizes social, education and economic elements in late 1995.

Since then, Aloshikha successes have included community based health and sanitation programs in remote villages, raising awareness of women rights and women empowerment, and promoting savings, and skill development training to improve the livelihoods of the poor section of the community. Aloshikha's program continues to evolve and innovate; current realities mean the program now comprises a range of various projects and financing, large and small, which all contribute to a common objective. We are encouraging local communities to receiving all forms of education, vocational or otherwise, to strengthen their self-employment opportunities or make them more employable.

Empowering the rural poor, however, is a prerequisite for sustainable development and enjoying of their rights. It requires overcoming challenges of exclusion, discrimination and exploitation of the landless, women, indigenous people and other dispossessed people. Aloshikha is committed to its works and trying its best to support the poorest of the poor and vulnerable population.

In recent years, several development projects have been initiated to address issues of coastal zone management, enhancing livelihoods of the coastal population and empowering, economically, vulnerable rural poor women groups by transferring wealth and assets for alternative income generation and self-employment. This report is a testimony to the fact that with a synergetic approach towards development, support from the donor, community, and the local people, can do a lot to improve livelihoods of poor. Thanks to all the donors who supported generously to help implement the programs/projects.

A team on 29th January 2022 visited Aloshikha RSDC Center to monitor the child health care and nutrition camp. The program is funded by the SAKO Foundation, the Netherlands. The program is to help us to work for health motivators to address the plight and problem of child health care services at field level. According to provision of the project, every preschool has 30 children each and 600 children able to get admission to government primary schools. During the learning period children were better informed about their rights and abuse and child labor and trafficking and related issues. Mary Orphan Home (Middle Rajihar)

The Mary Orphan Home started its journey in the year 2014 with only 10 helpless street children and later it has included another 23 children and it means now 45 (boys 32 and girls 13) children are residing in the Home and receiving the services. Most of them are of 6 years of age and do not have either a mother or a father, or both, having lost one or more of their parents. In the light of that, Aloshikha RSD Centre has adapted this specialized initiative to ensure their education, health and employment opportunities for a happy future. Currently all children are studying in the Maria Child Care School which are also operated and guided by the Aloshikha RSD Centre. Mrs. Martha Halder, one of the dedicated social worker of Aloshikha thought first to take some initiative to established them in the loop of the mainstream of our society through different services. Currently 45 children are from Chittagong Hill Tract and 04 children are from different places of Barishal and Kotalipara. Apart from this, many of the children are coming every year from different geographical locations of the country to this home but which is beyond the capacity of Aloshikha to receive those children due to financial constraint and lack of other support. Aloshikha, as a non-profit and non-government organization, cannot alone meet all the financial expenses of the needs of the children; rather it has depended on the generous donations of friends and partners since 2014-2022. In this respect, we urgently seek support from helping hands from kind hearted people from all over the world to continue this initiative.

Education program (Kindergarten school):

We felt that education is important for all and without education none can take part in the nation building process. The Kindergarten education system is rather costly in rural areas, even as government primary education. The Aloshikha initially started one kindergarten school on its campus which eventually grew to three kindergarten schools in different places which are run by local supports. The main focus of the program is to ensure quality education and include creativity activities on regular basis for their cognitive development. Parents meeting are held on school premises yearly 3 times with a view to assess how they achieved quality education. In Bangladesh most Kindergarten schools are mainly academic oriented, but at Aloshikha we put emphasis on extracurricular activities among the students like painting, drawing, cultural programs on occasion of Independence day, victory day, Bangla new year etc. In addition, we raise a voice against child abuse and child trafficking and their rights, road safety and to promoting their cultural heritage.

VTC Program

The Aloshikha RSD Center is operating one vocational training center within its complex. The main focus of the program is to create job placement among the rural unemployed youth, for both girls and boys. Four trade courses are operating: Mechanical, Welding Fabrication, Tailoring and Dress Making, and Electrical. In addition, another three welding trades have been approved by the Bangladesh Technical Board. According to the requirement and curriculum of the technical Board, every trade course has the 30 students, both the girls and boys. The center has been able to convince the local unemployed youth that vocational education is a resource for income generating process and job facilities for national and international labor markets.

The Aloshikha Vocational Training Center is duly affiliated by the Bangladesh Technical Education Board. The Center was recently affiliated as SSC Vocational Course. The Board has the responsibility to support to the center with logistic and other amenities.

Book distribution, however, was completed among students of the vocational training center recently. The Chairman of SAKO Foundation recently paid visit to Aloshikha VTC and distributed books among the students. The board members of SAKO also conducted training to the students on English. The students' gifted photos on his farewell organized by the ED of Aloshikha.

Fishing program

Harvesting of shrimp and cultured fish from ponds under fish culture program of Aloshkha. Mr. Marteen and Mr. Mark, Two delegates from The Netherlands, are seen in the harvesting period.

With the technical support of fishery officer MD Alam and the monitor of Aloshikha, Martha Halder, Shrimp cultivation program was implemented by Aloshikha.

Fish culture play an important role in the Bangladeshi diet constituting the main and often irreplaceable animal protein source in poor rural households. In this point of view Aloshikha has undertaken a fish cultivation program in its own water bodies with both the high yielding varieties and local indigenous species of fish.

Rice and fish dominate the diet of Bangladeshis to such an extent that the old common proverb “Machee Bhatee Bengali” which can be translated as “Fish and rice make a Bengali perfect” continues to hold true. Fish is an essential and irreplaceable food in the rural Bangladeshi diet. Together with rice, this is eaten at least twice per day with small amount of vegetables and fish make up the typical meal.

Bangladesh is dominated by floodplains and rivers, which are rich ecosystems for fresh water fish. The floodplains which comprise over half of the country, are inundated annually during the monsoon, and agriculture and natural fisheries complement one another. In the monsoon to post monsoon season (June to November) the floodplains provide an ideal habitat for the wide diversity of wild fish species, whereas in the dry season, the land is cultivated with rice. However, the importance of fish as a rich source of animal protein is well established and this is frequently used to justify fish as a valuable food, whereas very little attention has been given to the role of fish in supplying vitamin A and minerals in the diet. Aloshikha has four big ponds, where it cultivates fish both for the purpose of internal dietary supply and generating revenue for the organization.

Poultry and Dairy Program:

Poultry

Since 22 years Aloshikha has been inspiring community people to adopt poultry farm businesses. It was a much neglected business to the community people due to problems such as bad smell from poultry feces, soft meat and only water inside an egg. However, Aloshikha's programs have achieved great success in developing and training communities in profitable poultry business models. Today many small poultry farms are being established in surrounding areas using the model of Aloshikha poultry farm. People now recognize Aloshikha as a pioneer of the poultry business. Presently it seems to be a profit making program, supported by reared up high yielding layer breed that are used for both meat and eggs purpose.

Dairy Farm

Aloshikha started its cow rearing program through Dairy Farm concept in 2000 and currently has 10 cows in the farm. The dairy farm ensures milk and sustainable supply to the local community at lower cost. Unfortunately the program had not been profit making due to some adverse environment such lack of food and inadequate grazing land, low-lying flood prone area and have not abundantly high land where cows can grassing freely. For this reason the program will be gradually closed down.

Hopefully, this project would bring a great profit. The program is really beneficial to the beneficiaries. Demands drive Aloskhika to expand it as soon as possible. The program will be integrated to Aloskhika's IGA program. No fund is available right now for the program but the fund raising efforts are in progress.

Maria Mother General Hospital

This hospital grant was awarded from the Japanese Government in late 1997 for infrastructure development and purchase of materials but did not have financial support for administrative costs. Still we are operating our activities for over 24 years and using all medical accessories properly.

In 1996 in order to reduce the gaps between health services and the community, and to raise awareness amongst the poor of available health program the Maria Mother & Child Health Care Clinic was established and later it became a general hospital with strong referral system in the community of remote village under Barisal district in Bangladesh.

The program staff of this general hospital has been able to identify and treat the health ailments in surrounding communities. It also met with the Upazila health and family planning officer to identify the best approaches to meet the needs of vulnerable populations.

Under this project at least 10 female Health Motivators are working in the field levels and they are always active to identify primary health problems and record them in referral slips. Patients then take these slips to nearby Maria general hospital and are given preferential treatment. For health practitioners, the use of the slips means doctors can quickly identify the issues of concern and more importantly see cases in need of treatment. However the main focus of the program is to provide low cost medical service delivery amongst poor section of people, especially who are not able to access health services due to their acute poverty and adverse surroundings in the intervention areas. In that case the health motivators take the responsibility to identify gaps between the clients and provide them counseling about Ailments that are what they should be done during pregnancy if any complications arise. They also advise how they access postnatal and antenatal care and all sorts of primary health care services amongst poor community.

Maria Mother & Child Health Care Clinic services through the trained health providers are as follows:

- a. Indoor/Outdoor 24 hours medical emergency service
- b. Major/minor operation facilities
- c. Ante-natal, neo-natal and post-natal along incubation facilities
- d. Diagnostics facilities such as Ultrasound, Diathermia, incubator, ECG, X-ray, Blood, urine, stool, sputum etc.
- e. Resistance fund facility for the poor
- f. Patients referral (Ambulance) and out call facilities
- g. Family planning, safe motherhood, breastfeeding, HIV and hygiene counseling
- h. Audio/ Video health conciseness program for out/indoor patients
- i. Collaboration with the Bangladesh government such as EPT, NID, sterilization etc.
